ST"†": The weapon requires two hands. If you have at least 1.5 times the listed ST (round up), you can use a weapon like this in one hand, but it becomes unready after you attack with it. If you have at least twice the listed ST, you can wield it one-handed with no readiness penalty. But if it requires one hand to hold it and another to operate a moving part, like a bow or a pump shotgun, it always requires two hands, regardless of ST. Shots "T": The weapon is a thrown weapon.

less than 1/3 HP: Dodge/2 and Move/2 (round up).

O HP or less: Make a HT roll at -1/full multiple of HP below 0 vs. unconsciousness at the start of your next turn and any turn you choose a maneuver other than Do Nothing.

-1×HP or less: Make a HT roll vs. death immediately and for every full multiple of HP below

-5×HP or less: Immediate death

FP loss effects are cumulative with each other and any effects suffered from HP loss less than 1/3 FP: Dodge/2, Move/2, and ST/2 (round up); ST loss does not effect ST-based quantit such as HP and damage.

0 FP or less: Make a Will roll vs. incapacitation before any maneuver other than Do Nothing, on a critical failure make an immediate HT roll vs. heart attack; every point of FP loss causes an equal loss of HP.

-1xFP or less: Immediate unconsciousness; you can no longer lose FP, further FP costs are lost from your HP instead.

DESCRIPTION

INVESTIGATOR

This is the resume of a professional mercenary! You got the world's biggest drug dealer on his way here. What, do you need a slide rule to figure it out? Or maybe another body in a zipper bag before you start asking questions?

- Det. Lt. John McClane, Die Hard 2

It's crucial to know where you're headed, when the opposition intends to move, what you (or they) are grabbing, who you're shooting at, and why. Hitting the wrong mark can be embarrassing - or fatal. You might not be as slick as the face man (pp. 9-10), a computer wizard like the hacker (pp. 10-11), or the equal of the wire rat (p. 16) at surveillance, but you still get the facts, and can coordinate these experts and analyze their results.

Like real spies, cinematic ones often utilize dogged research and tedious surveillance. Background training consists of many Area Knowledge and Current Affairs specialties, plus additional points plowed into primary and secondary areas.
